

Expanding your business or setting up new operating companies overseas is a significant challenge. Outsourcing your information technology leaves you free to concentrate on what you do best, developing your business. Leave your IT and telecom systems to us. We will ensure you are up and running on time and within budget.

Information Technology

"When setting up an office in the UK, you need to be working with a partner who has your best interests in mind; we will ensure you have everything you need to get your business online."

Anthony Hart

The IT solutions you are familiar with at head office can seem a long distance away from your satellite offices. And as your business systems are only as reliable as the computer systems they run on, we know that it is vital for new offices to have access to the best possible technical support.

We make it simple, by offering complete IT support alongside our other outsourcing solutions, and working hand-in-hand with them. Like all our services, it's based on working closely with you to create a flexible, common-sense and jargon-free plan and making sure that we deliver the most technically appropriate and timely solutions.

By knowing what you want to achieve, we can work hard to make sure that you achieve it, by setting up the right systems, designing the best solutions to improve your business processes and providing the security so you are never more than a single phone call away from support 24/7.

And with our pro-active network support contracts, we will monitor for potential problems and address them before they become critical.

It's just one more way we can improve your business performance.

Ask Anthony a question

You can also visit the Taag-IT website.

Services

- Quality on-site and remote day-to-day support and maintenance
- Mobile communications
- Telecommunications – Landline installs and call tariffs
- Bespoke advice, training and consultancy
- Internet hosting and website development
- Network infrastructure solutions
- IT strategy – process and systems analysis
- Hardware and software packages at trade discounted rates
- Virtual server consolidation
- Hosted solutions
- Virtual Desktop Infrastructure

"Taag's friendly approach and dedication to the task has meant we can concentrate on other areas of the business."

Gary Mitchem
IT Manager
Eurasian Natural Resources
Corporation

Anthony Hart
Director, Information Technology
+44 (0) 20 7430 5999
ahart@fitzgeraldandlaw.com
www.fitzgeraldandlaw.com