

Seeking legal advice will cost time and money, especially if you have to deal with multiple service providers for other aspects. Fitzgerald and Law provide access to legal advice as well as financial services to give a single source solution tailored to your specific needs.

Legal Advisory

"There are times in your business when it's good to know that there's a lawyer in the building. We give our clients the advice they need in the simplest language"

Tom Redfern

When legal issues arise alongside financial issues, you'll need a lawyer you can depend upon to understand your business. Someone to work seamlessly with your financial team and with the same objectives.

It's when bringing in someone new can be costly, both in terms of time and money. It's when the duplication of meetings, briefings, reviews and opinions from lawyer and accountant can slow down your business and lose you opportunities.

We saw these issues and understood that the only way to overcome them was to unite the legal and financial teams; to partner with a legal firm to offer complementary advice under one roof. It gives our clients the complete kit of business advice, managed under a single process.

It's a rare partnership and one that demonstrates the F&L commitment to creating better and more efficient ways for companies to manage their business.
